Using Motivational Interviewing When Screening for Risky Substance Use a two-part series

A Live, Interactive Webinar

November 7 and November 14, 2023

10:00am – 11:30am Hawai'i

Substance misuse and overdose deaths are increasing in Hawai'i. To better identify substance misuse early, prevent worsening, and provide interventions and treatment, Med-QUEST, along with our partner Health Management Associates, is providing an online interactive session on Screening, Brief Intervention, and Referral to Treatment (SBIRT). SBIRT is an evidence-based, comprehensive, integrated public health approach to the delivery of early intervention and treatment services for individuals at risk of substance use disorders. It is a holistic approach that recognizes the importance of early intervention in improving outcomes for individuals and communities. SBIRT encounters are reimbursable.

Motivational Interviewing (MI) is a communication technique that aims to evoke and strengthen a person's motivation for positive change. In SBIRT, MI is used during the Brief Intervention to engage individuals in a non-confrontational and collaborative conversation about their substance use. The goal is to help them recognize the potential risks and consequences of their behavior and explore their motivation for change. Through role plays and discussions, this training will cover the Spirit of MI, and other foundational MI skills including "OARS" Skills (Open-ended questions, Affirmations of the patient's inner strength, Reflective statements, and Summary statements) and recognizing change and sustain talk. We will delve into effective use of MI for providing feedback on personal risk and consequences, as well as enhancing motivation for change.

Target audience: Social workers, Nurses, Physicians, Billing and Coding departments, counselors, SUD clinicians....

Content level: Beginner
